Given the multiple layers of traumatic events that have impacted our society and schools, providing trauma informed supports for staff and students is critical. To address staff and student needs, administrators and support personnel can utilize a PBIS framework to provide trauma informed supports school-wide. As a result of attending this session, participants will be able to define trauma informed supports, understand how trauma informed supports can be provided through a PBIS framework, and develop a clear understanding of how administrators and support personnel can collaborate to align systems and practices.
