Acknowledgements & Gratitudes

A special thanks to Dr. Rose Iovannone for her wisdom, mentoring, guidance and support as we develop training material for the PTR Master Facilitator Academy. Dr. Iovannone is the Director of a federally funded Behavior Research Center, the Prevent-Teach-Reinforce (PTR) Project. She is one of the original authors of Prevent Teach Reinforce: A School-Based Model of Individualized Behavior Support (Brooks Publishing, 2009) and primary editor of the newly released, 2nd Edition. Her PTR leadership workshops are inspirational and provide the most current research and information.

We would also like to acknowledge the work of the Bureau of Exceptional Education and Student Services (BEES), a diverse team of state, district, agency and university personnel who readily accept the challenge to begin work on a Blueprint for Tier 3 Implementation: A Results-Driven System for Supporting Students with Serious Problem Behaviors. Bureau of Exceptional Children and Student Services, March 27, 2014.

We owe a great deal of thanks and certainly our admiration of the work completed by the National Technical Assistance Center on PBIS (www.pbis.org) and all the PBIS TA Centers across America. At the top of our list is Dr. Rob Horner and Dr. George Sugai, whom without, we would still be trying to figure out how to implement a very well written and functionally sound BSP in a general education (or even special education) classroom.

The following researchers, practitioners and national organizations are acknowledged for their pioneering research and influence in Tier 3 Positive Behavior Supports which have been utilized in this guidebook:

- ▲ Cynthia Anderson, Ph.D., Director of May Institute's National Autism Center
- ▲ Chris Borgmeier, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Department of Special Education, Portland State University
- ▲ Glen Dunlap, Professor, University of Nevada, Reno
- ▲ Robert Horner, Ph.D., Director, OSEP National TA Center on PBIS, University of Oregon
- ▲ Donald Kincaid, Ed.D. Professor of Child & Family Studies, University of South Florida
- ▲ Janice K. Lee, M.Ed., BCBA, Faculty Researcher, University of Nevada, Reno
- ▲ Sheldon Loman, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Department of Special Education, Portland State University
- ▲ Phil Strain, Ph.D., Professor of Educational Psychology and Psychiatry, University of Colorado Denver
- ▲ George Sugai, Ph.D., Professor, Special Education, Neag School of Education, University of Connecticut and Co-Director of the National TA Center on PBIS.
- ▲ Ann Todd, M.S. Senior Research Assistant, Education and Community Supports, University of Oregon
- ▲ I-SWIS Development/Training Team. ECS Research Unit, College of Education, University of Oregon,

We also want to thank all the teachers, administrators, children and families we have encountered along our journey of implementing individualized positive behavioral support plans. They have enriched our personal and professional lives in ways we could not have imagined at the beginning of this journey. This work is truly changing the world and we are humbled and excited to be a part of this positive approach in creating a safe, caring, and positive world where humanity thrives. THANK-YOU!

Our Vision... is to design equitable and safe learning environments by providing professional development and tiered technical assistance in building organizational capacity for implementation fidelity and sustainability of effective evidence-based practices supporting positive relationships for all students and families.
